VOLUME 5 MAY 2014

As we approach the November Election for the Governor of Texas, one of the key issues is early childhood education. Greg Abbott, Republican candidate, wants to provide up to $118 million in state money for pre-K programs run by local school districts. He also wants to restore George Bush's Texas Reading Initiative, a program to have students reading on grade level no later than the third grade.

Abbott has proposed seven recommendations for achieving the first phase of his "Educating Texans" plan:

- 1. To improve teacher skills and student learning in critical early years, establish a pilot program to create Reading Excellence Teams which will be made available on an optional basis to schools with low third grade reading scores.
- 2. Create Literacy Achievement Academies with a curriculum focused on reading, writing, and incorporating technology, designed to improve the professional development of teachers in the critical area of literacy.
- 3. Create Math Achievement Academies modeled on the Tex-

- as Reading Initiative's Reading Academies that will train K-3 teachers in numeracy instruction and technology.
- 4. Provide funding to districts that opt to implement a gold standard, high quality, accountable prekindergarten program with the goal of demonstrating long-term prekindergarten success.
- 5. Require prekindergarten providers that receive state funding to set benchmarks and evaluate improvement, and to report this data to TEA.
- 6. Develop research-based professional development for prekindergarten teachers that incorporate the Texas Prekindergarten Guidelines and standards to promote classroom best practices.
- 7. Given the established deficiencies in the Head Start program, develop a strategic plan to encourage parents of eligible four-year-old children to enroll their children in state-based prekindergarten programs rather than Head Start.

Abbott's plan is notable because it strives to move away from federal mandates that often require local districts to spend money they do not have and move toward a system with more State and Local control.

Abbott is focusing his plan on early childhood education in order to build a firm foundation for future learning. If students do not develop good reading and math skills at an early age, studies show they continue to struggle throughout their education and often become dropouts.

In presenting his vision for Texas' education system, Abbott made the following comment on his website: "As Governor, I want to see the Texas education system rise to its rightful place to be number one in the nation. We will no longer patch the cracks in our education system every few years. Instead, we will achieve lasting results by giving our schools and families the tools they need to create a solid foundation for learning. We will cultivate a culture of aspiration and achievement. That means setting expectations of excellence for our children, our teachers, our principals and our parents, and then giving educators the flexibility to achieve them"

MEMBERSHIP - NANCY ROBERTS

Our total membership as of the April general meeting was 86. Active Members stand at 68, Associate Women at 7 and Associate Men at 11. Renewals in April: Barbara Biggi and Lynda Truhlar. We have SEVEN Active Members attending the State Convention in Fort Worth in June as delegates. That's some great representation! It is a real education to be a part of your local and state caucus/convention and learn what is behind the delegate and voting processes. I know that I am preaching to the choir when I tell you that when any of us chooses NOT to vote, it's the same as voting for the opposing party. Let your voice be heard in a positive way! Speak of issues that unite us with others! Get involved! VOTE!!!

C.H.A.T. – Our second evening CHAT (Chicks Having an Awesome Time) will be Tuesday, July 15th from 5 – 7 PM at Three20Three Wine Bar on Telge Road. Save the date and invite your friends! Feel free to hang around and have a bit to eat. We want to give ladies that can't make the daytime meeting an opportunity to be a part of CFRW and to help us KEEP TEXAS RED.

Cy-Fair ISD Bond Election

Cy-Fair ISD has a $1.2 billion bond package on the ballot for a May 10 election. The proposed bond package is expected to meet Cy-Fair ISD's needs through the year 2020. In early January, a 50-member long-range planning committee convened with the goal of creating a proposal focused on addressing the district's security, transportation, facilities and technology needs through 2020. The committee believes this is a strictly needs-based proposal. This is the largest bond referendum in Cy-Fair ISD history-and the first in nearly seven years. Cy-Fair ISD continues to deal with a major population increase. Their projected growth, based upon a comprehensive demographic study, predicts that there will be 15,000 new students by 2020.

What is included in the bond proposal?

- $197 million accounts for student growth, including provisions for two elementary schools, a middle school, a Matzke Elementary replacement and six future school sites—three elementary campuses, one middle school and two high schools. The committee also recognized the district will hit another growth milestone in 2016 when its eleventh high school opens, requiring CFISD to enter into two UIL districts. This division creates the need for additional and upgraded facilities to accommodate those programs.
- Approximately $666 million of the proposed bond package includes reinvesting in the district's older facilities with renovations at Bane Elementary, Adam Elementary and Watkins Middle School. Facility renovations would include structural repairs, roof replacements, site drainage improvements, paving replacements, exterior site lighting upgrades, air conditioning replacements and fire alarm system replacements.
- Transportation needs account for $72 million of the proposed bond, including a new transportation center, new buses and the installation of video surveillance and GPS technology on existing buses. Also, bus service would be restored to pre-2009 levels, which would restore bus service for students inside the 2-mile limit instituted because of state-mandated budget cuts.
- $55.3 million for security and safety enhancements, including the installation of security vestibules, video cameras, emergency call phones and bullet-resistant glass at front entrances.

 $217.2 million for technology- upgrading classrooms, labs and mobile technology systems. The proposed bond would allow the installation of highspeed wireless access infrastructure and a new network.

Tax Implications

If you are 65 or older and have filed your homestead exemption, your CFISD tax rate will not increase if this bond is passed. It will also not have any effect on the 20 percent reduction on property taxes for those with a homestead exemption. If the bond passes, there will be tax increases to service the district's debt. It is projected to increase incrementally each year for three years beginning in 2015-16. The cumulative tax rate increase for the three years is projected to be 4.5 cents. The total tax increase during the three-year period would be $62.25 annually on a home valued at $200,000.

The bond is structured so that the number of years of principal and interest payments match the estimated useful lifespan of the assets being constructed, renovated or purchased. The life of the bonds used to pay for facilities is 25 years, instructional technology is five years, infrastructure technology is 10 years and buses are 15 years.
